NEW AGE ROCK N SOUL

Blending raw rock energy with deep, soulful grooves, Edgewood Heavy has carved out a sound that's entirely their own: Rock N Soul. This four-piece powerhouse is led by two electrifying frontmen whose chemistry drives every show. Often described as "a mix of Black Pumas, The Black Keys, and Outkast," Edgewood Heavy built their name in the Southeast and now performs for audiences nationwide and abroad.

Recent highlights include NPR's "Sounds Like ATL" (WABE), the 2025 NACA National Showcase in Philadelphia, major festivals like One Music Fest (50,000+), Bear Down Music Fest, Wire & Wood Fest, Stone Mountain Soul Fest, and Inman Park Fest, plus multiple contracts as a Guest Artist with Virgin Voyages. They've opened for acts such as Dayglo, David Ryan Harris, El DeBarge, Mackenzie Carpenter, Dazz Band, and shared the stage with Lady Wray. The band also performs regularly on college campuses through NACA and APCA, and for corporate clients including NCR, Hard Rock Cafe, The Atlanta Braves, and more.

Beyond the stage, Edgewood Heavy curates community through their annual music festival, Edgewoodstock, including a collaboration with local brewery Soul Brothers on their signature beer, Edgewood Hefe.

After their debut album, $ex Drugs & Rock N Soul (2023), the band kept the momentum moving with cross-country touring, new singles including the genre-blurring "Drunk Remix" with Sporty-O, and The Live Album, a 12-track collection capturing the energy of their shows. In 2025, they completed a coast-to-coast run through 25+ cities in 15 states—followed by performances across 8 countries with Virgin Voyages. In 2026, they're continuing the ride with the "Singing Songs for Strangers" Tour.
